Our Faculty is located in the heart of Canada's innovation and health research ecosystem, at one of the best universities in the world. We are a significant contributor to U of T's position in international university rankings and recognized success as one of the top five universities in North America for research-based startups.

Have more than 200 research collaborations with over 40 countries across the globe.

Answer the compelling need to develop new and improved diagnostics tools and treatments for cancer through our Centre for Pharmaceutical Oncology.

Accelerate new discoveries and novel solutions that will drive personalized medicine forward through PRiME, U of T's Precision Medicine Initiative based at the Faculty.
